Group as a Source of Resilience and Change

Special International Track presented in cooperation with the International Association of Group Psychotherapy and Group Processes

Sheraton New York Hotel & Towers, New York City

The Annual Institute and Conference provides participants from diverse clinical disciplines the opportunity to advance their knowledge, skills and training in group psychotherapy and related fields. The Annual Meeting experience promises to include the development of new clinical approaches, refinement of therapeutic methods, exchange of clinical and empirical knowledge with colleagues, exposure to current research and theory, and the opportunity to participate in a multidisciplinary peer support network.

The Annual Meeting is divided into two sections: the two-day Institute devoted to small group teaching primarily in the experiential mode and the three-day Conference which offers a variety of formats, including limited registration workshops as well as open session panels on special topics and original scientific paper sessions. Participation in our experience-based program can bring renewal and restoration from the isolation and day-to-day stress of psychotherapy practice.

Who Should Attend?

Any mental health professional interested in learning about group dynamics. We all live and work in groups. Group dynamics affect interactions in all aspects of our lives.

Why Should You Attend?

- World-renowned faculty are available to instruct, challenge and inspire you.
- Earn over 40 continuing education credits in your affiliated discipline.
- Learn valuable, proven strategies and clinical techniques that can be used immediately.
- Take advantage of time away from the day-to-day pressures of work. You'll return refreshed, stimulated and rejuvenated – and ready for new challenges ahead.
- Create cherished memories while strengthening your professional expertise.

What You will Learn!

After participating in the Annual Meeting, attendees will be able to:

1. Identify, review and integrate basic group dynamic concepts into their practice;
2. Compare the theoretical underpinnings of various schools of group therapy;
3. Conduct groups in a variety of settings with a broad range of populations;
4. Apply evidenced-based practices as they relate to group therapy.

How to Register!

Registration is available by mail, fax, phone, email and online. To mail: complete the registration form on the back cover, and mail it along with your payment to AGPA c/o Chase Manhattan Bank, Church Street Station, P.O. Box 6359, New York, New York 10249-6359. Fax your form including credit information to 212-979-6627. Phone registration is available by calling toll-free 877-668-AGPA (2472) or 212-477-2677. You may also email us at registration@agpa.org. An online registration form is also available under the "Meetings and Events" section of the AGPA website, www.agpa.org.

New York, New York – what a wonderful town for our Annual Meeting. Of course, it's my home and I am proud of it. It is especially fitting that we hold the gathering here – it is the 10th anniversary of 9/11 this year. And through partnering with the International Association of Group Psychotherapy and Group Processes, ours will be a global look at what we have accomplished, what we have learned and what we, as professionals need to do to meet the mental health and other social challenges in a rapidly changing world. In tandem with the challenges that have emerged in the last ten years, we as professionals and as an association have repositioned ourselves. Our collective roles have become much more attuned to the needs of many, diverse populations, here and elsewhere. Group-based strategies have frequently taken us out of the traditional consultation room. Our time together will enable us to reflect on these changes and to honor those who have given so much. At the same time we will honor our traditions by presenting programs, led by our best and brightest, on theoretical and technical issues that will make us all more effective leaders. There will be something for everyone – isn't that what New York is about?

I urge you to review the program and participate in the many exciting activities during our time together.

Remember that our meeting is not just about learning – it is about personal renewal. In ways that go beyond Facebook, Twitter, and Skype, our Institute, Workshops and Open Sessions are arenas for meaningful social networking. We do intend to use our personal encounters as a launching pad for follow-up contacts through distance learning the other 51 weeks.

Museums, Broadway, jazz, fine dining, shopping and history, along with a first-rate opportunity for professional development, are yours for the taking. See you in New York.

What to look for inside...

We have an exciting line-up of speaker presentations:

- Two Special Institute Presentations on Monday, February 28:
 - 1) Richard Billow, PhD, ABPP, CGP, will present "Loving, Hating and Knowing: Working with Resistance, Rebellion and Refusal."
 - 2) Judith Cochè, PhD, CGP, LFLAGPA, will present "The Power of Couples: Using Interpersonal Dynamics to Create Transformational Change for Clients and Health Care Communities" with special guests, Laurie Abraham, BFA, MA and Juliette Anderson Galbraith, MD.
- Bonnie Buchele, PhD, ABPP, CGP, DFAGPA, who is an AGPA Distinguished Fellow, Past President, and esteemed Annual Meeting faculty member, will present the Opening Institute Plenary Address entitled, "Your Institute: A Resilience Boost."
- The Mitchell Hochberg Memorial Public Education Event entitled "The Role of Emotion in Therapeutic Action: Implications for Individual and Group Psychotherapy" will be discussed by Karen Maroda, PhD, ABPP.
- Marianne Legato, MD, will be the Conference Opening Plenary Speaker; her presentation is entitled, "The Gender Divide: The Impact of Neurobiology, Hormones, Age and Experience on Human Behavior."
- The Anne and Ramon Alonso Plenary Address entitled, "Affective Engagement between Therapist and Patients: The Basis for Therapeutic Action" will be presented by Frank Lachmann, PhD.

Just for fun at the end of each day there is a time to get to know each other personally at our evening social hours. You also won't want to miss two of the meeting's highlights hosted by the Group Psychotherapy Foundation: the Friday night dance party featuring Rhythm Dogs and the Saturday luncheon with Sing for Hope.

AGPA will again offer the Continuous Online Group with Drs. Claudia Byram, Robert Hsiung and Jeffrey Roth. This 24/7 group will be take place before, during and after the 2011 Annual Meeting beginning Thursday, February 24 and ending Wednesday, March 9. Registration for the Annual Meeting is not required for participation in the Continuous Online Group. Participants who complete the event will be awarded six continuing education credits. Details and registration information for this event are available on the AGPA website (www.agpa.org). Annual Meeting attendees will be able to participate complimentary.

Annual Meeting Attendance is Affordable...

New Member Discount. If you are not currently an AGPA member and join at the time of registration, you will save more than the difference between the member and non-member registration fee. A membership application is on page 15. We hope you will join us as a member.

Annual Meeting Scholarships are also being offered by the Group Psychotherapy Foundation. Details on Awards and Scholarships for attendees as well as application information can be found on our website under "Scholarship Opportunities" in the Meetings and Events section. Please consider a donation to the Scholarship Fund to support the scholarship program; you can include a gift on the registration form found on the last page of the program.

In addition to the 35% discount offered to Students, New Professionals and Retirees, there is a 35% discount available to Clinicians and Chaplains working with Active Duty Military and Veterans.

Agency/Institutional Multi-Person Registration Discount.

A special discount is available to individuals from the same agency/institution. The first registration is at the full rate with additional registrations from the same agency at a 35% discount. Agency/Institution registrations may be shared among personnel. Registration forms must be forwarded together and accompanied by a listing of the names of registrants on agency letterhead stating personnel are full-time employees and verifying the agency or institution as a non-profit. (Other discounts are not applicable when using an agency/institutional discount.)

Agency Bonus: AGPA is offering a free in-house educational event to all agencies that send three or more employees to the Annual Meeting in New York in 2011. The leader, format and scheduling of this in-house event will be decided based upon the content desired. Additionally agency personnel will receive a reduction of 50% off the first year's AGPA Membership fee if they join at the time of registration or within two months of the Annual Meeting.

One-Day Special Institute Presentations

Monday, February 28, 9:00 AM – 5:00 PM

SI-1. Loving, Hating, and Knowing: Working with Resistance, Rebellion, and Refusal

Instructor:

Richard Billow, PhD, ABPP, CGP

Psychotherapy is about developing the capacity to tolerate and develop truth, which is limited, desired and feared. Emotional truths often are difficult to bear, much less to share with others, for they are rooted in our basic urges to love, hate, and know. Therapists and other members struggle to cope with and make sense of these urges, which define group process and meaning. This presentation will highlight Dr. Billow's relational approach, in which the group therapist remains central in the action: eliciting, evaluating and responding to the truth needs of the various individuals and the group itself as well as detecting and modulating the impact of falsity. The presentation will include a "fishbowl" demonstration group, and a whole group experience.

Dr. Billow is a clinical psychologist, psychoanalyst, and an active contributor to the psychoanalytic and group literature. His published works, including Relational Group Psychotherapy: From Basic Assumptions to Passion (2003, Jessica Kingsley) and Resistance, Rebellion, and Refusal: The 3 Rs (2010, Karnac), have made a major contribution to the theory of psychoanalytic group therapy, and in particular, to the development of relational perspectives in various clinical modalities. He is Clinical Professor and Director of Derner Institute's Postgraduate Program in Group Psychotherapy (Adelphi University), and maintains a private practice in Great Neck, NY.

Continuing Education for Special Institute Presentations: 6.0 credits/.6 units

SI-2. The Power of Couples: Using Interpersonal Dynamics to Create Transformational Change for Clients and Health Care Communities

Instructor:

Judith Cochè, PhD, CGP, LFLAGA

Special Guests:

Laurie Abraham, BFA, MA and Juliette Anderson Galbraith, MD

Since 1975, Dr. Judith Cochè, joined by her late husband (Erich Cochè, PhD, ABPP) and most recently, her daughter, psychiatrist Juliette Galbraith MD, has coached, counseled and inspired colleagues to bring the best of group therapy skills to those they serve. To this end, Dr. Cochè invited journalist Laurie Abraham into her couples' therapy group for two years, resulting in a New York Times article that received the American Psychoanalytic Association's 2008 award as best contribution to the psychoanalytic literature.

Drs. Cochè and Galbraith, with special guest Ms. Laurie Abraham, will be using the modality of couples therapy and couples group psychotherapy as their forum for addressing evidence-based practice and multimodal psychotherapy. Participants will be informed about the interpersonal mazes in couples treatment and the importance of utilizing knowledge of interpersonal dynamics to heal couples, groups and communities.

Dr. Cochè has designed the group therapy training program in Psychiatry at the Medical School of the University of Pennsylvania, where she and Dr. Galbraith train psychiatric residents and Dr. Cochè trains clinical psychologists. Author of two books and 30+ academic journal articles, she has most recently authored Couples Group Psychotherapy, 2nd Edition (Taylor Francis, 2010).

Your Institute: A Resilience Boost

Instructor:

Bonnie Buchele, PhD, CGP, ABPP, DFIGPA

Buchele

Life has many stressful events, including traumatic ones. Recent research indicates that how well we recover, and even grow, from them is related to how resilient we are. Ten years ago, after the events of 9/11, AGPA deepened the awareness of how helpful groups can be in assisting recovering from wounds and in building resilience. The AGPA Institute can serve as a source of refurbishment for group therapists. Dr. Buchele will talk about the ways that Institute participants can make their Institute experience a personal emotional resource as well as a place of learning.

Dr. Buchele is a past president of the American Group Psychotherapy Association. Presently she has a private practice in Kansas City, MO. Dr. Buchele was a consultant to Certified Group Psychotherapists in New York City and Washington, D.C., who led groups for traumatized individuals following the events of September 11, 2001. Her interest in the area of trauma and groups for persons experiencing trauma spans several decades beginning with her career at the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kansas, where she was Program Director of the Trauma Unit. She is the author, co-author and editor of many publications and has been on the Editorial Board of the International Journal for Group Psychotherapy for 15 years

The Institute is primarily designed for clinical professionals who meet the requirements of at least a Master's degree in a mental health profession and who have clinical psychotherapy experience. Many sections of the Institute welcome psychiatric residents, graduate students in mental health degree programs as well as mental health workers who work in a range of human service settings. Please register for a section consistent with your experience.

The Institute is scheduled over two full days: Tuesday, March 1, 9:30 A.M. – 5:45 P.M. and Wednesday, March 2, 8:30 A.M. – 5:00 P.M. Registration will only be accepted for the full two-days and registrants will be expected to attend both days, including the Institute Opening Plenary Session. Continuing Education credit will not be awarded for partial attendance. Devoted to small group experiential teaching, these two-day groups are led by carefully selected experienced instructors. The secure environment of these small groups allows for rich cognitive and emotional learning about group processes and oneself as well as an opportunity for personal and professional refreshment. The Institute consists of two sections:

- > Process Group Experience (PGE) Sections: These small groups provide participants an environment in which to obtain, expand and retain their skills in conducting group therapy. The PGE sections are conducted by many of the country's outstanding group therapists. The group psychotherapy skills gained are important in conducting any group, regardless of its theoretical orientation, time parameter or patient population. PGE sections are essential training and benefit the participants, both personally and professionally. A portion of each PGE will be didactic. A maximum of twelve registrants will be accepted per group.
- > Specific Interest Sections: These groups offer intensive learning about specific theories and approaches in group treatment. Registrants can pursue current interests in greater depth or learn ways of integrating new approaches and methods into their private practice, clinic or agency work. Most of the Specific Interest Sections have extensive experiential components. Registration maximum (up to 20 registrants) has been set by each instructor.

Observation and Evaluation: Institute sections will be observed by Institute Committee members. Registrants will be asked to complete a brief evaluation questionnaire designed to aid us in continuing to provide high quality meetings, upon conclusion of their attendance at events.

The Role of Emotion in Therapeutic Action: Implications for Individual and Group Psychotherapy

Featured Speaker: Karen Maroda, PhD, ABPP

This presentation will focus on the uses of emotion in the therapeutic process, with some reference to group work. Techniques for optimal stimulation of emotion within the group will be discussed, as well as the role of emotion in the therapeutic process. The importance of educating clients about affect management will be addressed.

Dr. Maroda is Assistant Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at the Medical College of Wisconsin and in private practice in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. She is the past Ethics Chair and Board member of Division 39 (Psychoanalysis) of APA, and Past President of Section III, Women, Gender and Psychoanalysis, of Division 39. The author of three books, The Power of Countertransference, and Seduction, Surrender and Transformation, and the recently released Psychodynamic Techniques: Working with Emotion in the Therapeutic Relationship. Dr. Maroda has also published numerous journal articles, book chapters and book reviews.

Thursday, March 3, 8:30 - 9:45 A.M.

Conference Opening Plenary Address

The Gender Divide: The Impact of Neurobiology, Hormones, Age and Experience on Human Behavior

Featured Speaker: Marianne Legato, MD, FACP

This lecture will review current thinking about the sex-specific anatomy and physiology of the brain. Dr. Legato will consider whether or not the concept of gender-specific abilities has a basis in biology and discuss how societal mores shape phenotype throughout the lifetime by impacting a brain that is not fixed in stone, but changing in response to our environment and to which, to an important extent, we respond in a sex-specific way. Finally, she will review some of the interventions that foster and/or impede optimal communication between men and women.

Dr. Legato is an internationally known academic physician, author, lecturer, and specialist in gender-specific medicine. She is Professor of Clinical Medicine at Columbia University College of Physicians & Surgeons and Adjunct Professor of Medicine at Johns Hopkins Medical School. Dr. Legato founded the Partnership for Gender-Specific Medicine at Columbia University in 1997. It is the first collaboration between academic medicine and the private sector focused solely on gender-specific medicine: the science of how normal human biology differs between men and women and of how the diagnosis and treatment of disease differs as a function of gender. She is the editor of the first textbook on gender medicine, Principles of Gender-Specific Medicine. Dr. Legato has received many awards for her leadership role in gender-specific medicine.

Affective Engagement between Therapist and Patients: The Basis for Therapeutic Action

Featured Speaker: Frank Lachmann, PhD

This lecture focuses on affective engagement between therapist and patient(s) as the basis for therapeutic action. The presenter will draw on two bodies of research: 1) structures of expectancies and violations of expectations and 2) the use of music in eliciting an affective, autonomic nervous systems response in the form of the "goosebumps." Film clips illustrate these points.

Dr. Lachmann is a member of the Founding Faculty of the Institute for the Psychoanalytic Study of Subjectivity, New York; Clinical Assistant Professor, NYU Postdoctoral Program in Psychotherapy and Psychoanalysis. He is author or co-author of more than 100 publications.
